

Don't let Washington Cut Your Hard-Earned Benefits!

Some in Washington are pushing a budget proposal that would cut Social Security and benefits for disabled veterans and military retirees by $129 billion over the next 10 years.

The "chained CPI" proposal would cut the yearly cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) for Social Security and retired and disabled veterans' benefits, hurting seniors and veterans who are already living on tight budgets stretched by prescription drugs, utilities and health care costs.

Even worse, the cut would grow over time – meaning benefits would shrink by larger amounts every year, hurting seniors and veterans more and more as they age and their retirement savings start to run out.

On behalf of seniors who have earned their Social Security through a lifetime of hard work and veterans who have already sacrificed so much for this great country, sign below to urge the President and Congress to reject shortsighted cuts and find responsible ways to address our nation's budget challenges.
